STAR SLEUTHS OF CHICAGO PUZZLED BY LAST MURDER

Numerous Mysterious Details In the Killing of "Mrs." Eppie Moss

Chicago, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Detectives Thomas Roche and Patrick Bourke, who have solved more sensational murder mysteries than any other two men in Chicago, were mystified today over the strange death of a woman who had never been married but who called herself "Mrs."

Not discarding altogether the theory that "Mrs." Eppie Moss, 41, daughter of a Virginia physician, had been strangled by another woman who disguised herself as a man, the detectives were convinced of one thing, that the killer had been acquainted with the victim.

Miss Moss was killed in a private garage. The killer escaped by jumping through a window as friends of Miss Moss battered down the garage door in the belief that she had been overcome by carbon monoxide gas.

Two Saw Killer
One of these friends, Miss Belleta Moss, and a boy saw the killer run away. They described him as being slender and young. He had a cap pulled tightly over his forehead. Something in the descriptions led the famous detective team to believe that perhaps the killer was a woman. Miss Moss herself often wore men's clothes.

Revelation that Miss Moss had not been married although she was known as "Mrs. Moss," came from her father, Dr. M. P. Moss of Roanoke, Va., where her body will be sent for burial.

Roche and Burke said indications were that the killer had waited in the garage for Miss Moss and that when she entered he had gotten into the front seat of the car with her.

Killer Madman?
Then, suddenly, he forced a looped rope over her head, they said. She fought back as the loop was tightened about her neck. The battle was short and probably ended as Miss Moss and a man battered at the door. As Miss Moss died her killer shoved her body from the car, jumped out himself, seized a high partition and jumped through the window.

Police learned today that Miss Moss was a niece of Col. James A. Moss, U. S. A., retired, who is president of the United States Flag Association in Washington and is a noted authority on military textbooks.

A new theory that the killer was a madman robber and that lives of other women in the vicinity were endangered grew today with reports that a man answered his description snatched purses from two women last night and frightened another within a short distance of the garage where Miss Moss was killed.

DENY MELLON, DAWES PLAN TO RESIGN POSTS

Rumors Circulated In Capital Without Foundation

Washington, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Reports that Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon will resign on March 4 "have no foundation in fact so far as I know," David E. Finley, Mellon's confidential secretary, said today.

Other attaches of Mellon's office likewise denied the reports, which said Mellon would be succeeded by Henry M. Robinson, Pasadena, Calif. Banker.

Assistant Secretary of State Castle, in charge of western European affairs, under which the London Embassy comes, said he had received no intimation that Ambassador Charles G. Dawes would resign his post to become Chairman of the Republican National Committee. This report was published along with the one concerning Mellon and said the Dawes would be succeeded at London by Secretary of Navy Adams.

The report that Dawes planned to relinquish his London post created considerable surprise at the State Department. Although the department would not deny a report that involved personal plans of one of its ambassadors, it said it had no knowledge of them.

Hired Slayer Is Sentenced To Die

Los Angeles, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Benjamin F. Brown, who for a small handful of dimes shot to death Mrs. Merle Ellis, 24, as she slept beside her baby son, was sentenced yesterday to die on the gallows.
Emory Ellis, husband of the woman, previously had received a life sentence for hiring Brown with $2,200 to do the shooting. The death sentence was a shock that sent Brown to his knees before Superior Judge McComb.

GOODFELLOW SPIRIT STILL ALIVE IN CITY

Dance Last Evening Netted $72.10 For Welfare Work

The Goodfellow spirit still burns in Dixon, as was attested by the benefit dance given last night in Downing Hall under the auspices of the Dixon Musicians Federation and the American Legion.

The proceeds from the dance were $72.10, all of which have been turned over to the Goodfellow Club for the benefit of Dixon's unemployed.

Every cent taken in at the dance goes to welfare work, for there were no expenses to be deducted. The musicians furnished the music free and the Legion supplied the hall.

The advertising was given free also. The Goodfellow club also wishes to acknowledge recent donations of $3 and $2 each coming from "A Friend."

The welfare headquarters over Sullivan's drug store continue to distribute food, clothing and fuel. Nearly one hundred families are being cared for. More funds are needed and donations of any kind will be gladly accepted.

A liberal donation from the farmers of East Grove township was received at the Welfare headquarters of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon, a part of the relief program sponsored by the members of the Lee County Farm bureau for the relief of needy families. The donations consisted of several sacks of corn, wheat, barley, potatoes, several dozen fresh eggs, live poultry and many articles of clothing.

250,000 Weavers In Britain Locked Out

Manchester, England, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Lancashire cotton mills were closed today against 250,000 weavers, whose representatives have refused flatly to accept a "more looms per weaver" system inaugurated by the mill owners.

The lockout brought England face to face with an even more serious labor crisis than represented by the South Wales coal mine strike on the same day that the Wales coal strike officially ends allowing 150,000 miners there to go back to work.

In addition to the weavers, 250,000 spinners and members of the various finishing trades also will be laid off shortly, since without weavers there will be no work for them to do.

GOVERNMENT IS PROBING DEATH OF 2 DIXONITES

Federal Agent Traces the Source Of Alcohol Fatal To Two

An agent from the United States Department of Justice office at Chicago, who arrived in Dixon yesterday afternoon and with the cooperation of Sheriff Fred Richardson and Chief Deputy Ward Miller today was reported to have succeeded in locating the individual who sold the quart bottle of wood alcohol which resulted in the death of Leroy Williams and Edward Sheehan on the night of December 15.

The bodies of the two men were found in Williams' automobile which had run into a ditch on a road north-east of the city about 7 o'clock on the morning of December 16.

While the federal agent would give out no information concerning the investigation which was begun late yesterday afternoon and concluded at noon today, it was reported that Williams had purchased the poison liquid from a local service station. The attendant who sold the alcohol was said to have made a signed statement of the transaction.

Told of Sale

Williams, it was said, drove into the service station on the evening of December 15, and had the attendant put one gallon of denatured alcohol in the radiator of his car. He then handed the attendant a quart bottle which he asked to have filled, stating that it was to be used in the car of a friend. It was the contents of this bottle which was identified by Emanuel May, at whose home near the place where the lifeless bodies of both men were found, which resulted in the deaths of both. A small quantity of the poison liquid was found in the bottle in the car at Sheehan's feet.

The bottle and its contents were preserved at the close of the coroner's inquest and turned over to the Department of Justice agent yesterday afternoon. It will be sent to a government chemist to be analyzed, it was hinted.

It was reported that the federal analyzing requires denatured or wood alcohol, which are recognized poisons, to be labelled with a red on white poison label when sold in bulk from service stations. The attendant at the local station, who was said to have admitted making the sale, was not arrested and after being questioned at the Sheriff's office, returned to his employment.

MEXICO SHAKEN BY CONTINUOUS TREMBLORS TODAY

Natives Of Oaxaca In State Of Panic As Quake Continues

Mexico City, Jan. 17.—(AP)—An almost continual earthquake, accompanied by weird subterranean rumblings, caused alarm in the valley of Oaxaca today. Some new damage was caused. Advice reached the city from outlying towns and villages of the extent of the disaster which accompanied Wednesday night's quakes.

An emergency first aid brigade was ordered today to proceed immediately to Miahuatlan, about 50 miles south of Oaxaca City, by Governor Cortes Lopez, after he had received information of twenty dead there, and a great number injured Wednesday.

Weeks may pass before other isolated towns in mountainous south Oaxaca state report their losses.

Dr. Juan Rueda, in charge of the observatory at Oaxaca, telephoning to Mexico City, described the continuing earthquakes and subterranean rumblings as "sounding as if many pieces of artillery of heavy calibre were doing continuous firing."

The constant trembling and the accompanying subterranean roar, he said, has caused "indescribable panic" among the residents, many of whom have fled to the hills.

Dr. Rueda stated that all the observatory's instruments had been thrown out of order and that he could report only the quakes which he himself felt and heard.

Wickersham Report Due Early In Week

Washington, Jan. 17.—(UP)—The long-awaited Wickersham Commission prohibition report will not be submitted to President Hoover until next week, it was learned today.

The report is expected to be given to the press for publication in newspapers of next Tuesday or Wednesday afternoon.

Only three of the 11 Commission members were in Washington today and one of these was expected to leave at an early date. The report, which is known to be completed, is being delayed only by some last minute details of editing and printing.

About Due To Hear Another Loud Report

SENATE ADOPTS RED CROSS AID FUND THIS NOON

$25,000,000 Amendment To Interior Department Appropriations

Washington, Jan. 17.—(AP)—The Senate today approved the $25,000,000 appropriation for Red Cross relief work. There was no record vote.

The proposal, sponsored by Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader was added to the Interior Department appropriation bill.

The vote came so quickly that administration leaders who intended to ask postponement of the proposal were caught napping.

Senator McNary of Oregon, the assistant Republican leader, promptly asked the Senate to reconsider the vote and then moved reconsideration.

Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, objected to reconsideration and the amendment stayed in the bill.

Smoot said he knew the provision would pass if put to a record vote and he wanted the Interior Department bill, to which it is attached, passed.

Wanted Bill Passed.
He said the measure provided $34,000,000 to be made available for public work immediately and his was the first money the western states would get under the relief program.

Senator Reed, Republican, Pennsylvania, had prepared to move that the Robinson amendment for $25,000,000 to be made the special order of business for February 9.

He drafted this proposal after a conference with President Hoover, who has complained that the Senate proposal was interfering with Red Cross campaign for $10,000,000.

However, Reed along with other administration leaders was not present when the sudden note came.

House Republican leaders today had expressed the opinion that the fund for millions for the Red Cross would not meet substantial opposition in that branch.

Later, Reed entered a motion to reconsider the vote by which the $25,000,000 amendment was adopted, but did not ask for its immediate consideration.

Reed's reconsideration motion held up final disposition of the amendment. It must be voted on, however, before the bill is passed.

Two Badly Burned By Gasoline Blast

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 17.—(UP)—Two men were burned, one seriously, today when gasoline in a garage exploded showering the flaming liquid over them and setting fire to their clothing and the garage.

The men were Roy Huston, 26, who is in a serious condition in a hospital and James Burns, 24, who suffered slight burns and a severed artery in his right wrist.

The accident occurred when Huston lighted a match as he and Burns were attempting to draw gasoline from a tank.

Burns was injured when he escaped through a window and Huston, dazed by the explosion stood outside the building with his clothing burning, until a passerby came to his aid.

Terse Items of News Gathered in Dixon During Day

WAS COLD YEAR AGO

A year ago today the thermometer in Dixon registered 23 degrees below zero, according to W. E. Trein who states that business in Dixon that day was not up to its usual standard. The recent fine weather this section has been enjoying is in marked contrast to the continued severe cold in the same month last year.

TIME DRAWING SHORT

Pupils of Dixon schools who contemplate trying for the $100 prize offered by a former Dixon man for the best poem written on the lines: "I was brought up out in Dixon, Dixon out in Illinois," have just two weeks to get their entries to "Poetry Editor, The Telegraph." The contest will close Feb. 1, at which time the poems will be turned over to the judges for consideration.

NEWS OF AUNT'S DEATH

Mrs. Oakes is the sister of Mrs. Augusta Robbins, mother of Mrs. Poole who is quite ill at the Poole home. Mrs. Oakes died from the effects of a third stroke after being in a coma for several days. The funeral was held this morning from the Methodist church in Daytona Beach. She was 84 years old.

Boewe, field botanist of the State Natural History Survey, will be the speaker. His address will be illustrated with a film entitled, "Greater crop profits by controlling diseases through seed disinfection." A general discussion will follow. The series of instructive farmers' meetings has been made possible through the activity of Prof. John Weiss, agricultural instructor in the high school.

Returns To Family After Long Absence

Staunton, Ill., Jan. 17.—(UP)—Life was worth while again today for Otto Martin Schnaare who after nearly six months of wandering returned to his wife and 3-year-old daughter, Geraldine, here yesterday.

Schnaare, who said he had become discouraged with the fear of losing his job and believing that his wife had lost faith in him, vanished from Staunton last July.

A statewide search through police and newspaper advertising was started and it was through one of the ads and the plea of an evangelist that Schnaare finally returned home.

Schnaare said he wandered over central Illinois before he obtained work on a farm near Milford where he said he heard Rev. M. Freeman preach a revival. Freeman, he said, discovered the newspaper ad asking Schnaare to return and persuaded him to return home.

Schnaare with his family plans to return to the farm at Milford where his employer has assured him of a place to live and continued employment.

CLARA'S FORMER SECRETARY WILL TELL "HOT" TALE

Promises Startling Revelations Concerning Film Star

Los Angeles, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Daisy DeVoe, former secretary of Clara Bow, said today that so far her testimony at her trial on charges of grand theft from the screen star "hasn't been so hot, and besides it's only a starter to what's coming."

Referring to her testimony that Clara bought expensive jewelry for her friends, played poker six nights a week, and ran up huge liquor bills, Daisy said:

"Oh, that isn't anything. Wait until I get to the part about some of her trips and about her gambling at Calneva and Agua Caliente."

"What I've said so far hasn't been so hot and it's only a starter. I hate to tell some of the stuff but I'm not going to take the rap in prison just to keep from hurting Clara's feelings."

Among the things Miss DeVoe charged with appropriating Miss Bow's money for her own use, revealed were:

Bought Own Ring
Clara paid $10,000 for an engagement ring everyone thought one of her men friends had given her.

She bought a $4,000 watch and locket for Dr. Earl Pierson, a young Texas physician.

She favored Harry Richman, New York night club king, with a $2,000 diamond studded watch.

She celebrated the birthday of Lothar Mendes, film director, by giving him a $600 star sapphire ring.

Clara's hair was not red when she was a little girl in Brooklyn, but Daisy made it that way by using liberal applications of henna.

The star's liquor bills ran into big figures.

Clara loved to gamble and her losses sometimes were very large.

After Miss DeVoe had expanded on many of her declarations, Judge William C. Doran recessed the trial until Monday, when Miss DeVoe will continue her recital.

Told of Her Duties
"What were your duties in your position?" Miss DeVoe was asked.

"My duties were to take care of all bills and not to bother her with them because she never wanted anything to do with bills," Daisy replied.

"I was to write all checks, make payments on the mortgage on her house and lot, pay all salaries, including my own and her father's and pay all of her liquor bills. I had to bleach her hair and then henna it, give her manicures and take the line out of her face so she could appear before the camera."

Attorney Nathan O. Freedman then branched out into the field of poker playing.

She Liked Poker
"She liked to play poker and we would stay at home just in order to do that as many as six times a week when she wasn't working on a picture," Miss DeVoe said.

Miss DeVoe said she paid off when Clara lost and remembered debts ranging from $5 to $200.

"Did you ever pay debts outside of the city?" asked Freedman.

"Yes," Miss DeVoe answered. "I (Continued on Page 2)

DEATH MESSAGE FIRST WORD IN OVER 40 YEARS

Ohio Man Learns Step-Sister Was War At State Hospital

The death of Miss Frances Deakin, aged 48, Dixon state hospital patient yesterday afternoon was the means of acquainting a step-brother, George C. Simms of Springfield, O., with the first information he has had of his step-sister's whereabouts since she was four years of age.

Simms through a step-sister in Chicago, learned last evening of Miss Deakin's death at the local institution, and he immediately communicated with the hospital officials and Joseph Staples, where the body had been removed.

In his telephone conversation, Mr. Simms stated that he had not known of Miss Deakin's whereabouts since she was three years of age, and he was anxious to obtain information of her presence in the institution.

The records at the Dixon state hospital revealed the information that the woman when a child of eight months, suffered an attack of cholera infantum at the home of her parents in Chicago. In 1888 she was committed from Cook county to the Lincoln state colony and in July, 1916, was transferred to the Peoria state hospital. She was one of a consignment of patients transferred from Peoria to Dixon January 13, 1923 and had been confined here since.

ARMY OFFICER'S SON SHOT AFTER WILD AUTO RIDE

Washington Police Unable to Explain His Escape

Washington, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Major Wesson, 23, son of Lieut. Col. C. M. Wesson, U. S. A., was near death this morning and under police guard as the aftermath of gun play and an unexplained wild ride in a commandeered taxicab.

Wesson was shot close to the heart by a policeman. Officers said he had entered a cab, ordering the driver to take him to an airport on the outskirts of the city. Getting there he shot three shots at a light on the porch of the building, got back in the cab and told the driver to "step on it."

The latter heard the siren of a pursuing police car and crashed his machine into a tree. He jumped and ran just as the police car swept by. One of the officers fired into the taxi and struck Wesson in the chest.

Policemen said he had not been drinking. His father said the youth had not been living at home lately but had been involved in no troubles. He was employed at the airport.

Report Mistrial In Case Of Magistrate

New York, Jan. 17.—(UP)—A jury in Supreme Court reported after 18 hours of deliberation today that it could not agree in the case of former Magistrate and Mrs. George P. Ewald, charged with paying $12,000 for an appointment to the bench.

It was the third jury disagreement growing out of the trials resulting from the state grand jury investigation of Ewald's appointment. Both trials of Martin J. Healy and Thomas T. Tommaney Tammany politicians accused of accepting $10,000 from Mrs. Ewald to urge the appointment, ended in jury deadlocks.

Dr. Francis Schirr, political committeeman of the Steuben Society which recommended Ewald's nomination to Mayor Walker is under indictment in connection with the alleged acceptance of $2,000 to further Ewald's endorsement.

Versailles State Bank Is Held Up

Versailles, Ill., Jan. 17.—(UP)—Two nonchalant youthful bandits were hunted by police today following their holding up the Versailles State Bank here yesterday and escaping with approximately $1,000 in cash. They fled via automobile in the direction of Baylis.

The two approached the window of Cashier Ralph E. Reed at the close of business and in soft low voices commanded him to turn over what cash he had. Then they forced him to open the vault and to give them currency.

Several customers in the bank at the time were compelled to line up against a wall with their hands in the air.

APPROPRIATION TO BE ASKED OF STATE ASSEMBLY

Several Buildings Of Importance Are Badly Needed There

A building program totalling an expenditure of approximately $240,000 is in prospect for the Dixon state hospital, commencing during the coming summer, it became known today. It is reported that the Department of Charities will ask this amount be appropriated at the present session of the legislature for the building of badly needed additions at the local institution, and that an effort will be made to launch the construction program at as early a date as is possible.

Dr. Warren G. Murray, managing officer, when interviewed today, stated that the desired appropriation would cover the construction of six buildings. An administration building, which has been needed for several years is among the most important of the proposed additions at the institution. An employees' dormitory building is the second in importance. At the present time one building is used exclusively for this purpose and another which was originally constructed as a receiving ward for female patients, is in use for the housing of employees.

Three cottages for the housing of staff physicians and their families are included in the program. This would relieve another housing obstacle at the institution, staff physicians and their families now living in employees' quarters in the large building which was originally constructed for an administration building.

A pasteurizing plant in connection with the new modern dairy building is the other improvement which is proposed in the 1931 building program at the institution.

The proposed building program would provide employment for a large number of Dixon's present unemployed and would also relieve a badly congested condition at the institution.

TWO OPPONENTS OF MAYOR BILL OUT OF CONTEST

Field Against Chicago Executive Reduced To Seven Today

Chicago, Jan. 17.—(UP)—The number of men opposing William Hale "Big Bill" Thompson for the Republican nomination for mayor was reduced to seven today with withdrawal of Charles V. Barrett and Oscar De Priest, Negro Congressman.

Barrett, who was the first to file, announced he was withdrawing in an effort to unite all of Thompson's opponents behind one candidate in the hope of "riding the city of Thompsonism."

De Priest, who is in Washington, withdrew because he said his petition had been filed by a practical joker.

"It is false, withdraw it at once," he telegraphed after hearing that the petition had been "signed" by all the Presidents, living and dead, of the United States and by many other famous personages. Besides the President, some others whose names were affixed to the De Priest petition were Al Capone, Marshal Joffre, Ben Turpin, Gallant Fox, Earle Sande, Mickey Walker, Ima Dreamer, Parley Vox, Barney Google, Al Jolson, Abe Kababek, Jake Lingle and Martha Washington.

Some of the names signed as notaries public who authenticated the signers' signatures were: Bull Montana, Man o' War, Jack Dempsey, Carrie Nation, Sophie Tucker, Bugs Moran, Joe Cook, John Gilbert and Benjamin Franklyn.

City Collector Morris Eller discovered the presence of the well known names on the petition. He also discovered that the notary public stamp had been fixed so that the notary's name did not show.

New President Of Panama Inaugurated

Panama City, Jan. 17.—(UP)—The Republic of Panama had a new President today—Dr. Ricardo J. Alfaro, recent Panamanian Minister to the United States.

Dr. Alfaro was inaugurated late yesterday as the constitutional successor of Florencio Harmodio Arosemena, who was ousted in the ten-hour revolution of Jan. 2 last.

American Minister Roy T. Davis attended the inaugural ceremonies. Simultaneous with the inauguration, Dr. Hermodio Arias, who was temporarily in charge of the government, announced his retirement from public life.

President Alfaro, who was summoned from Washington to become the nation's Chief Executive, announced he would retain the cabinet now functioning.

ARREST POLICE
SERGEANT TODAY
ON GRAFT CHARGEJealous Spurned Woman Turns Informant On Former Lover

Chicago, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Sergeant
Jack Herdigan, 36, of the Chicago Police Department was arrested today on testimony that he was a "collector" of gang protection money and had paid $1,500 to obtain his rating.

A jealous woman, who said she had lived with Herdigan for four years and has costly gifts and luxuries lavished upon her, caused the arrest of the Sergeant, who is married and the father of five children.

The woman was Miss Bernice Shaw, 34, who said she told 17 story because Mrs. Herdigan brought suit against her for alienation of affection and she was left by Herdigan with only 17 cents.

Miss Shaw testified that Herdigan has boasted of obtaining $1,500 from Jack Zuta, northside gangster who was slain in Wisconsin, to pay for his Sergeantcy.

She said that Herdigan was promoted despite the fact he was thirty-second on the civil service examination list.

Her former sweetheart often mentioned that he was serving the Robey street and Warren avenue police districts as collector of vice protection payments, she said.

Claims He Threatened Her

Miss Shaw and Herdigan separated last September 18 after a quarrel, she said. Herdigan previously had induced her to pawn all the jewelry he had given her on the pretext of needing "quick" money.

He took everything from her, including the pawn tickets, she said, warning her that she would be
"put on the spot" if she "squawked."

Herdigan's alleged connection with Zuta was borne out, investigators said, by the discovery of shoes in Zuta's safe deposit boxes which mentioned telephone conversations with the officer.

Herdigan was arrested by State's Attorney's agents who announced that they also were holding Miss Shirley Cubbs, 40, police woman operative No. 1, for questioning.

They said she partly corroborated
Miss Shaw's story.

Herdigan denied the charges. It was expected that he would be summoned before the special grand jury investigating charges of police graft.

Reapportionment

Washington, Jan. 17.—(UP)—A bill providing for reapportionment of House membership on the basis of 475 members was introduced in the House today by Representative
Thurston, Republican, Iowa.

The present House membership is 435, and reapportionment on the basis of that membership will become effective after this session of Congress unless Congress changes
the law meanwhile.

Under Thurston's bill no state would lose Representatives. Several states would lose under the new reapportionment act. The Thurston bill will have wide support from those states which would lose under the new act.

COMMUNISM IS GRAVE THREAT
TO DEMOCRACYSuch Is Report Made
By House Committee Today

Washington, Jan. 17.—(UP)—Radical legislation to curb communist activities in the United States is recommended to Congress in the majority report of the Fish investigating committee filed today in the House. The report envisages Communism as an active force dangerous to American institutions and the economic welfare of the United States.

In reality, Communism is a mortal enemy within our country, aiming to destroy our Republican form of government, to cause civil war and to bring revolution in the United States," the report says.

The most salient recommendations are:

Outlawry of the Communist party of the United States, either by federal or state action.

Deportation of all alien Communists, estimated in the report at 70 percent of American Communists, and amendment of immigration laws to bar entry of aliens who are Communists.

Appropriation of ample funds for the Justice Department bureau of investigation to check activities and disorders.

Bar on importation of Russian goods made from convict or forced labor.

A more conservative view of Communist activities as a result of the committee's lengthy investigation is taken by Rep. Nelson, Rep. Me., in a minority report submitted simultaneously with that presented by Chairman Fish.

"Communism is making no menacing headway in America," Nelson said. He added that he favors little additional legislation.

Nelson's report recommends greater care of consular officers in selecting immigrants and issuing visas;
sufficient appropriations to the Justice Department to follow up radical activities; adequate appropriations for the Labor Department for deportation of undesirable and illegally entered aliens; strengthening of present deportation laws to remove criminal aliens; careful supervision by the post office department of Communist literature, and encouragement of organized labor.

California Girl Is Back
From Dangerous Exploration Trip

By HAZEL REAVIS
New York, Jan. 17.—(AP)—Yankee magie spared Bessie Steen, University of California co-ed, from the Tapira Indians of Brazil who wanted to make her the blonde chieftainess of their tribe.

Miss Steen, student of anthropology and technology came home this morning on the liner Southern Prince, the first white woman to visit the Tapira-pezes.

The chief of the tribe and his fighting men went by night to her tent, she said, but could find no way to enter it because it had a patent fastener and presented only a smooth side to their touch.

Convinced she was protected by magic, they sought to attack with clubs the Brazilian military escort which accompanied her but they fell back cowed when the Colonel turned his flashlight into their eyes.

The girl had hoped to spend weeks
among the Tapirapezes, but her eventual capture was considered by her guides to be inevitable if she stayed and she was satisfied to have been the first white woman to penetrate the wild interior of Mato Grosso, a thousand miles from Rio de Janeiro.

Miss Steen covered the thousand miles by train, boat, muleback and on foot. She lived on powdered milk, dry beans and biscuits. She waded for days in river beds alive with dangerous fish and snakes. Monkeys and wild beasts sometimes stalked the party for days, she brought back a monkey from the Island of Bananal.

During her stay in the Tapirapeze village she kept a revolver in her pocket.

The California girl, tall, strong,
blue-eyed and 29, undertook the journey to Brazil as part of her graduate research work. She will return to the University of California to edit her notes. Collection of trophies collected by her have already been forwarded to the museum of the University of Pennsylvania and to the University of California.

FESS REPLIES
TO ALLEGATION
OF MR. SHOUSESays Statement Of Attacks
On Rascob Is Infamous Untruth

Washington, Jan. 17.—(UP)—The charge that the Republican National Committee has been attacking John J. Rascob because he is a Roman Catholic was branded as an "infamous untruth" today by Senator Simon D. Fess, chairman of the committee. He thereby broke for the first time the silence he has maintained since the Lucas-Norris controversy developed before the Christmas holidays.

Fess attacked specifically the recent statement of J. J. Shouse, Democratic National Executive Chairman, asserting "the plain purpose of Mr. Shouse in attempting to inject the religious issue was to throw a smoke screen around the vigorous warfare being carried on within the Democratic party over Mr. Rascob and his domination of the party machinery through his millions."

Chairman Fess's statement follows:

"Mr. Shouse has asserted that the Republican National Committee is attacking Mr. Rascob, because he is the leading Catholic layman. This is an infamous untruth. This attempt to inject the religious issue is made for the very apparent purpose of throwing a smoke screen around the vigorous attacks upon Mr. Rascob by Democratic leaders."

Such as Governor Dan Moody of Texas and Josephus Daniels of North Carolina.

"The Republican party paid no attention to Mr. Rascob until the public exposure of his sinister plan to impair or destroy the Republican party by scurrilous attacks upon President Hoover and his administration."

"This conspiracy, which has been without counterpart in the history of American politics, was disclosed by a Democrat of unblemished party record, Mr. Frank R. Kent of the Baltimore Sun, who asserted in the September issue of Scribner's magazine that Mr. Rascob had set-up and was organizing an organization in the nation's capital for the sole purpose of 'smearing' the President of the United States."

"The Republican National Committee called the attention of the country to this scheme as exposed by Mr. Kent. 'Beyond this we care nothing about Mr. Rascob. The Democratic party is welcome to him and all his millions.'"

Fess previously had remained silent during the controversy occasioned by the revelations of the Nye campaign funds committee that Robert H. Lucas, Republican Committee Executive Director, had conducted a secret campaign in Nebraska against Senator George W.
Norris, Repn. The Republican chairman also had remained aloof during the brief battle of statements resulting from the demand of former Governor Alfred E. Smith that the Republican committee apologize for the barroom cartoon circulated by Lucas in the anti-Norris campaign.

Shortly before midnight Alfred all their money, and then got into the automobile and drove away.

Eight "Orphan" Cars Added To
List Last YearBy DAVID J. WILKIE
Detroit, Jan. 17.—(AP)—At the plant of the Ford Motor Company in River Rouge, Detroit suburb, is what might be called a crematorium for "dead" automobiles. Thousands of cars of every known make—and some long forgotten—have been brought there to be stripped of everything salvageable and then dumped into the flaming maw of the blast furnace, the metal reclaimed going back into the production of newer types of automobiles.

Most of the cars, of course, are early models of Ford's own make, but not infrequently there comes an "orphan," dragged out of a barn where it long has stood awaiting final disposal. Perhaps it is an Appointment of 1900 or an Ambassador of 1922; it may be a Dixie Flyer of 1917, or a Star of 1920, or it may be a "Mighty Michigan" of 1913. Always its appearance starts a discussion of the long list of motorcars that live only in dim memories.

The year 1930, which saw the birthday of the Ford Motor Company, also saw the introduction of 51 new makes of cars to be added to the American market. The total production for the industry that year was 11,235 cars with a value of $13,000,000. In 1929, record year of the industry, the total output of passenger cars was 4,794,808 units, with a wholesale value of $2,981,141-842.

While the year 1930 one of the most hazardous in the history of the automobile industry, saw no manufacturing mortality, it added its quota to the list of names to be added to the roll of the industry's casualties. Taking their places alongside the other "Orphans of the Highways," are the Erskine, Blackhawk, Marquette, Locomobile, Roosevelt, Stearns, Viking and Whippet.

THE DAY OF THE BICYCLE.

It is a little bit surprising to learn that the Newburgh Wheelmen's Club of Newburgh, N. Y., has finally passed out of existence; surprising, not because the organization has disbanded, but because few of us realized that any of those old associations of cyclists still existed.

This Newburgh group, it develops, had been in existence for 44 years; and while 44 years do not make a very long time, yet the changes that first brought that club into being and then finally left it high and dry on the sand are a measure of the tremendous upsets that modern life has inflicted on its people.

The Wheelmen's Club! What a far-off and forgotten sound that title has, anyway! It carries one back to the early days; days when that strange new invention, the bicycle, was taking the country by storm, when men were exulting in a new and enjoyable method of transportation, wheeling themselves over city streets and country roads, and getting a whale of a good time out of it all. Young city chaps would get up at dawn, on Sunday mornings, to spin out into the country for the enjoyment that fresh air, country scenery and a pleasant dose of exertion could give. Swains and their maidens pedaled off down leafy lanes—and what an adjunct the bicycle was to courtship! Lads in their early teens found the new sport as exciting as flying, and vowed that it was a great world that could produce a bicycle.

But it didn't last. A new invention, the automobile, came along; and although it did not directly affect the bicycle, it indirectly killed it by filling the roads with such a turbulent stream of traffic that a man on a bicycle would not be safe for two minutes. We have given up bicycling for pleasure, not because it isn't fun—it is, and very good fun, too—but simply because our automobiles have left no place where a man can ride a bicycle in safety or comfort.

The automobile, of course, has been an inestimable boon; but it is not of order to shed a tear or two for the vanished bicycle, and these "wheelmen's clubs" of the old days? And as it being to old-fashioned to express the pious hope that one of these days there will be a revival of bicycling in this country? It is very fine to get from place to place in the automobile; but for the man who likes to dawdle along the way, and take his pleasure leisurely, the bicycle holds unsuspected possibilities. Can't we, somehow, restore it to something like its old position?

WHAT AIRPLANES CAN DO.

Spectacular aviation stunts are relatively common; but a few have been more spectacular and at the same time more useful than the recent flight of 10 Italian seaplanes across the South Atlantic.

The mere thought of these 10 planes soaring over the ocean together is enough to make one's heart beat a little faster. That take-off, in the dark, must have been a thing to remember forever; and the landing, on the other side of the ocean, must have been even more splendid to see.

But the implications of the flight are more important than its spectacular side. Here we have a solid demonstration of the airplane's reliability. Twelve planes set out to cross the sea together; 10 of them make the trip, with engine trouble stopping the other two. It will be a long time before aviation furnishes a more impressive indication of its potentialities.

These are the days when a college grad would just as soon have something else on his stomach than a fraternity key.

The times are such, indeed, that many a man worth his salt finds himself in a tight pinch.

An Iowa man discovered his wife and then hired her as a cook. That's one way to be sure she'll leave him.

A man doesn't have to be married long to come to the conclusion that women have very attiring disposition.

Congress is reported to be studying a way to make paper money last longer. It's a funny thing, but most of us have been working on the same problem for some time now.

The elephant was quite a sight. Times crept up to his side, all scared that he might grab at them and hold them in his trunk. But Mister Elephant was wise. A twinkie broke out in his eyes as Clowny grabbed a loaf of bread and handed him a chunk.

"Say lads, I'm going to have some too," the Travel Man said. "Why don't you?" "We will," replied the Tinymites. So lunch was had by all. And then the Travel Man said, "We are going to turn our new friend free. To keep him tied up tight like this just isn't fair at all."

"That's great! I'm sure that you are right," replied kind Scouty Tinymites. "Well shoo him to the jungle lands and he'll be glad to go." The elephant jumped to his feet. His freedom seemed a real nice treat. He shortly scampered out of sight. The whole bunch laughed, "Ho, ho!"

(The Tinymites have a new surprise in the next story.)

LLOYD GEORGE'S BIRTH

On Jan. 17, 1863, David Lloyd George, British statesman and prime minister, was born of Welsh parentage at Manchester.

He was educated at a church school and later studied law with a firm. As winner of a great lawsuit involving the right of burial in parochial ground, Lloyd George achieved wide reputation and was elected to Parliament in 1890.

During the Boer War he opposed the policy of the Conservative government for which he became unpopular. His independence, ability and brilliant debating, however, steadily gained him recognition. Made chancellor of the exchequer in 1908, he took a leading part in important legislation.

After the outbreak of the World War he was made prime minister and granted special dictatorial powers. In this post he served with great ability and skill. The war over, his ministry was given, in 1918, overwhelming endorsement in the Parliamentary elections.

In 1921 he brought about the conference with the Irish leaders which resulted in the establishment of the Irish Free State. He resigned the premiership in 1922.

HEREDITY OR ENVIRONMENT?
By DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine.

The majority of people with sciatica or sciatic neuralgia are men between the ages of 30 and 60. People who have this disease suffer from severe pain which may begin as a dull ache in the back of the thigh, but which finally becomes a burning or piercing pain radiating downward from the back of the thigh to the muscles of the calf and even of the foot.

When the pain begins, it causes a severe degree of discomfort so that the person affected is likely to shift his position, keep his leg flexed, walk or do all sorts of things in order to get relief. Sometimes the attacks are mild and last only a few days, but in severe cases they on for weeks and months, incapacitating the person entirely for work and eventually making it necessary to undertake serious measures to get relief.

The exact cause of inflammation of the sciatic nerve or its related tissues is not known. There are, however, cases in which removal of visible infections in the nose and throat and his teeth have brought about some relief from the sciatic.

Certainly one of the most valuable methods of help to a person with this condition is application of heat to the region affected. Unquestionably the person does better if he is able to lie quietly in bed and not to exercise the affected tissues.

Unfortunately far too often these people fall into the hands of "rubbers" or manipulators who vibrate or massage the affected portion of the body and thereby make the condition worse instead of better.

One of the certain methods of controlling the pain in this condition is to inject about the affected nerve a solution of some substance which will successfully block off the passing of the pain sensation along the nerve. The procedure is a technical one which must be carried out by a competent physician. The substances used include salt solution, water, lo-

RED COMB CHICK STARTER

Right now is high time to be figuring on RED COMB Chick Starter requirements for 1931. Some important developments have been made in RED COMB Chick Starter during the year of investigational work. Here in a few words are the outstanding qualifications and results that can be expected:

1. Development of deep, yellow shanks and beaks in chicks.
2. Absolute protection from rickets under most extreme confinement.
3. Complete in vitamins necessary for poultry.
4. Greater return in pounds chicken per pounds of feed.

Extensive feeding tests on RED COMB Chick Starter have been conducted both at the Red Comb Experiment Station and at other places. When it comes to producing good, smooth, well-developed chicks with deep colored shanks under confinement as well as range, RED COMB can't be beaten and we have yet to see its equal.

RED COMB Chick Starter is an all-mash ration to be fed for the first eight weeks. No supplements such as cod liver oil, grain, green feed, etc., are necessary. Simply keep RED COMB before strong, vigorous chicks hatched from RED COMB Fed Flocks, give them proper care and watch them grow.

A special feed known as RED COMB Chick Battery Mash has been developed for feeding chicks reared in battery brooders from day-old to broiler weight. With this one exception RED COMB Chick Starter is best for starting chicks under any management conditions.

You can demonstrate the value of RED COMB in producing quality poultry and eggs. With RED COMB Chick Starter, it's deep, yellow shanks; with RED COMB Egg Mash, it's quality eggs.

Call for prices and have Hank cull your hens.

Wig-Wags Are Here

Material for the wig-wags to be installed by the C. & N. W. Ry. at the crossing on Elm street has arrived and in all probability will be in operation in a month. Two signal units will be installed, one on either side or both in the middle of the crossing. The flash type of signal will be the one used. The red light on a cross arm of each unit will flash on and off alternately when a train is near. This system of protection is being substituted for gates at many crossings by various railroads and is considered the safest of precautionary measures.

Lincoln Raffensberger who has been the tower man for a number of years will have reached the age limit of C. & N. W. employees hence could work no longer, but Roy Warnefeltz who assisted lose his work. The gates were installed July 23, 1914, and will be greatly missed by the public as they have always felt safety with the gates.

Obituary

Death came to J. E. Sanders, more familiarly called "Pat" early Saturday morning, after a long illness.

John Elmer Sanders passed away at his home, northwest of town, January 10, 1931, after a lingering illness of over a year. He had attained the age of 66 years, 3 months and 23 days. He was a patient sufferer always glad to see his neighbors and friends, who were many.

Mr. Sanders was born at Fairfield, Pa., September 17, 1862, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Sanders. He was one of a family of thirteen children. Three brothers, with the father and mother have preceded him in death. The brothers and sisters surviving are: August Sanders of Ashton, Ill.; H. and J. C. Sanders of Emmitsburg, Md.; L. A. Sanders of Bonnville, Pa.; L. E. Sanders of Osnabrock, N. D.; Mrs. Margaret Bowling and Mrs. Grace Wachter of Emmitsburg, Md.; Mrs. Alice Keninger of Altoona, Pa., and Mrs. Minnie Meyers of Taneytown, Md.

At an early age, he journeyed westward, stopping at Franklin Grove, where he met and married Miss Mary E. Lookingland on January 28, 1890. To this union were born six children, four of whom with his wife and mother mourn the loss of a devoted husband and father. The surviving children are: Mrs. Ruth King, of near Eldena, Ill.; Roy of Minneapolis, Minn., and Elmer, Anna and James at home.

The deceased was of a jovial disposition, which made him man staunch friends. He will be greatly missed in the community, while the loss in the home is irreparable. Funeral services were held at the late home Tuesday afternoon, Rev. O. D. Buck of the Church of the Brethren officiating. Interment was made in the Emmert cemetery west of town. The pallbearers were as follows, nephews of the deceased: Charles, Ernest and Glen Sanders, Richard Buck, Leroy H. Miller and Lester Lott.

P. T. A. NOTES

The Parent-Teacher meeting held at the high school auditorium, Friday evening, was one of the most interesting and best attended that our local association has ever experienced. The crowd numbered a hundred and fifty, or possibly more. The program given was enjoyed by all.

The Community Orchestra, of which the Community has just reason to be proud, under the direction of Mrs. James Conlon, played three numbers to begin the program. The applause given them showed how they were appreciated by the audience.

Following the orchestra came the play of the evening by Attorney Harry C. Warner of Dixon. Mr. Warner gave an interesting and instructive address in which he emphasized the value of an education. Mr. Warner's message was a timely one and interested all.

The Harmonica Four then gave us some more music. It was composed of the following men: O. D. Buck, F. J. Blocher, I. J. Trostle, and Ira Buck. They were accompanied on the piano by W. C. Zoeller. Two numbers were played which delighted the audience to such a degree that an encore was given for full measure.

The business of the Association was then transacted with our new chairman, L. J. Miller, presiding. The report of the Secretary was read and approved. Mr. Miller then made a few remarks concerning the object of our association. This prompted added remarks from F. C. Gross, Bela Halderman and C. W. Crum. The remarks were concerning the betterment and welfare of our school and community. Upon the suggestion of W. B. Holley a rising vote of thanks was given to Mr. Warner for his good address.

The meeting closed with another number from the community orchestra, which was greatly appreciated and the meeting adjourned.

As this was the first regular meeting under the direction of our new officers, new members for the Association were enrolled. The committee reported that seventy-five members had joined our association. The membership committee would like to enroll all who are interested in the welfare of our school before the next meeting.

UNITED MEN'S CLUB MEETING

A record attendance was scored at the regular monthly meeting of the United Men's club held Tuesday evening in the Brethren church basement.

The meal served by Charles Kelley, R. C. Gross and I. J. Trostle proved more of a banquet than a luncheon and was hailed by those present as a grand feed. The menu consisted of baked ham, baked potatoes, rutabaga, lettuce salad with French dressing, cup cake, rolls and coffee.

The music was furnished by a men's octette composed of O. D. Buck, F. J. Blocher, Henry Hicks, Ira L. Buck, I. J. Trostle, O. O. Miller, E. R. Buck and H. A. Dierdorff. A number of selections were given among which was a round which proved quite a hit. The words supplied to an old tune were, "Men's Club Meeting, where are all the other fellows?"

Rev. O. D. Buck introduced the speaker as a man interested in home school and church and after President C. Ernest Davis of Mount Morris College, plead guilty to the charges, he launched into his address, the thought of which was "A Democracy May Be Created by A Government of the People, but it Takes Religion to make it a Success." He plead harmony in common objectives and purposes, to the end that we might have a saner country in which to live.

A short business meeting was conducted by the president, F. C. Gross. After reports of various committees, C. A. Crum recommended that greetings be sent to J. E. Wolf, a loyal supporter of the club, who is now confined in the Dixon hospital because of an operation. This was unanimously passed.

The crowd greeted with applause the refreshment committee's announcement of a Jiggs Dinner for one February meeting. The committee will be Charles Kelley, Clyde Phillips, L. L. Durkes, F. R. Buck, Frank Kesselring and David Weigle. A leader in the department of men's work of the Presbyterian Church is the person of Rev. Clair Boyd Gar-hagen of Chicago will be our speaker. This should be one of our best meetings and men of the community should make their plans now.

The American Legion Auxiliary met Jan. 7 with Mrs. Della Gilbert with a good attendance of members and two visitors present. Letters of thanks were read from the hospitals who had been remembered at Christmas. The Auxiliary wants to sincerely thank all who so heartily co-operated with them to remember our unfortunate boys. Here is a list of most of the things received: 23 glasses jelly, 3 boxes cigarettes, 11 tooth paste, combs, gum and 28 lbs. home made candy. We also received a crate of 6 dozen eggs from Miss Lucy Gilbert. These supplies were sent to the Chicago Municipal T. B. and Edward Hines hospitals. The Auxiliary also sent 10 Christmas stockings of various articles to the value of 75 cents each to Danville. After reports and business had been dispensed with, several pounds of carpet rags were sewed. The hostess served coffee and doughnuts and ended a profitable and pleasant afternoon. The next meeting will be held January 21st at the home of Mrs. Florence Wilson.

Weekly Sermonette

A synopsis of the discourse delivered last Sunday evening by the Pastor, L. E. CONNER, Church of God, West Morgan Street.

Please read and consider Psalm 107. According to the old theology, as presented, generally, by ministers a half century ago, we were urged to make our peace with God in order that we might escape the punishments, awaiting the impenitent, or, with many, that we might the more easily and quickly pass through the impending purgatorial experiences to which the wicked world had been doomed.

This, all too generally promulgated and accepted doctrine, has been modified to a great degree in recent years, and the incentive now almost universally presented as the motivating cause for our turning to and worshipping, serving and praising God is the "exceeding great and precious promises" of eternal life and salvation from sin and its consequences.

The first above mentioned doctrine has always seemed to me to represent our God as a vindictive ruler—one intended to incite in his subjects a feeling of hatred and disposition of rebellion, rather than that of love and a desire for a closer communion and fellowship with a kind, merciful, considerate, loving, tender, compassionate and all wise Father, such as the holy scriptures represent our God to be.

The more modern doctrine, above mentioned, would indicate that our desire to come into closer communion and fellowship with God is prompted principally, from selfish motives, viz: The promise and consequent prospect of receiving rich rewards for so doing. An illustration, using our domestic relations for the purpose, will serve to bring out my thought more clearly: A father is very rich, occupies a position of great honor and possesses comparatively, unlimited power. He has two sons, both of whom seem to love, honor and obey him. You say to one of these sons: "Why are you so devoted to your father?" and should he reply: "Because my father is rich in goods, power and influence, all of which I expect to inherit in the near future." You ask the other son the same question and he replies: "I love, honor and obey my father because he brought me into the world, and has cared for me, has supplied me with everything needful; has made many sacrifices for me, and in more ways than I can enumerate he has manifested his love for me. In a word, 'I love him BECAUSE he first loved me.'"

By comparing the reasons for loving their father, given by these two respective sons, do we not find the true answer to the question: "Why should we worship God?" Rich and "beyond compare" are the promises of future salvation and glory in the world to come! and yet are not even these but incidental to the motive that should prompt us to worship God?

If every man in Dixon, irrespective of his peculiar dogmatic-religious views, could appreciate God's goodness to us all, and make it convenient and meet at least once each week, with some congregation to praise and worship God for his goodness to us, what a wonderful city this would be. Would it not?

"Oh that men would praise the Lord for his goodness, and for his wonderful works to the children of men."

FESLER DEFENDS FOOTBALL; SAYS IT BUILDS MEN

Ohio State's All-Star Ace And Honor Student Interviewed

BY LARRY GREEN

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 17 —(AP)—Far from feeling that college football is being over-emphasized or that its effects are detrimental to the athlete, Wesley Fesler, Ohio State's All-America ace and honor student, credits the game with helping him to maintain a high scholastic standing. "As a matter of fact," remarked this young man who has a four-year record of never having flunked a class, "I can almost be said that football is under-emphasized, from the student's point of view. "Take myself for instance. I love to play football. My college career would have been incomplete without the hard mental and physical training I got on the gridiron. Oh, I was tired when I came home from a hard day at practice, or after a stiff game, but a good meal, a good shower, and my mind was clearer. Studying was easier and I got more out of what I studied.

"The hard knocks you get in the game are more than compensated for in the satisfaction of winning—or even of putting up a hard losing battle."

Fesler admitted he hadn't thought a great deal about the commercial emphasis placed on the game. So far as he knew, that phase of the issue never got as far as the locker rooms or the practice field.

No Thought of Money
"We never thought about whether winning or losing would bring in more or less money at the gate," he said. "That wasn't what we were there for. We were playing for Ohio State—to win if we could, but if we lost, we knew it wasn't because we didn't try; maybe we didn't team did; anyway, we did our best."

Wes doesn't recall any one game that meant more to him than any other. But he admitted with a broad grin, "that game we took from Pitt last fall was a peach. Maybe it was sweet revenge. I guess I did feel a little that way about it. But then, Pitt has a big name, and I got a kick out of licking them."

Fesler doesn't believe that a subsidized football player can be a big success on a college team.

Team-Work Supreme
"It's team-work that counts," Fesler went on. "One man can't make a football team any more than he can make an army or a big corporation or anything else that requires cooperation. Yourself, the team and the school get out of football, or any other sport for that matter, just what each individual player puts into it. If one man lags, it pulls the whole team back. A brilliant player can pull a team down if he tries to hog the limelight."

"And this bunk about football being too much work. Of course its work. But the man who finds he can't stand the grind had better stay out. Hes not doing anybody any good. Its like studying. The man who finds he must study so hard to keep up that it hurts his health—well, I started to say hell better quit, but then maybe not. He might lighten his schedule and stay in school a little longer.

Character Builder
"But in football he can't lighten up. Hes got to be in there, and if he finds he can't stay on his toes every minute, he can withdraw. He doesn't have to play football to stay in school."

Summing up, Wes said, football is a character builder, a body builder and a mind builder.

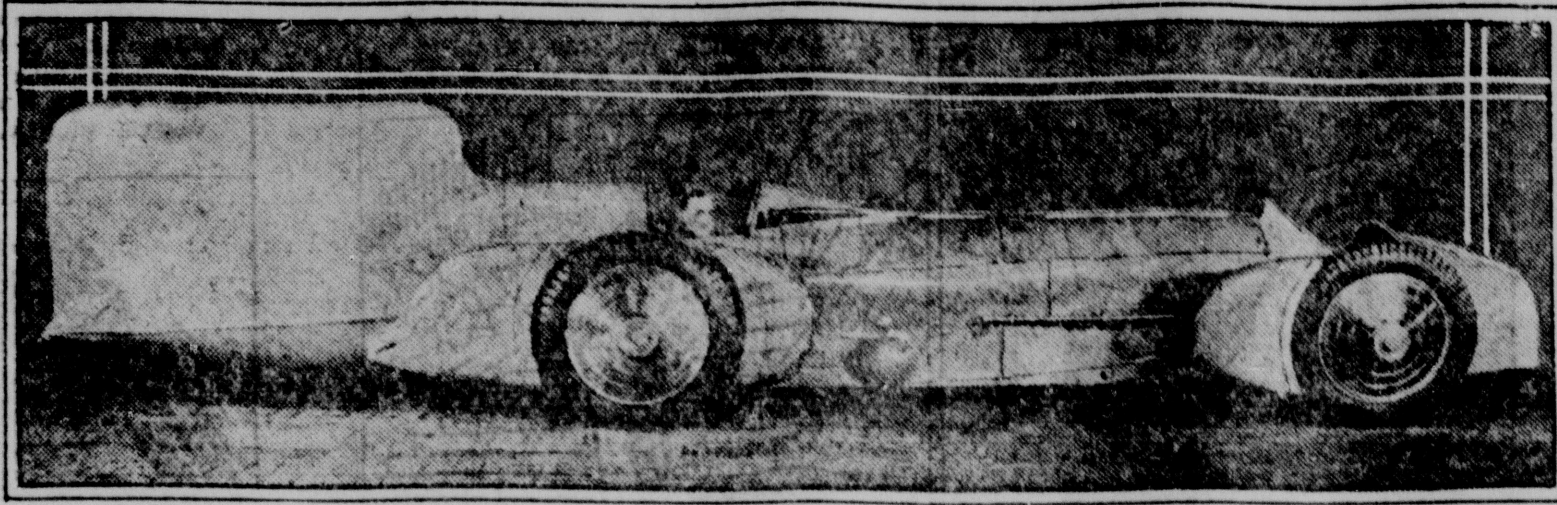

"You've got to think and act fast to stay in football," he said. "Not only that, you've got to take the bumps, and take them hard sometimes. That means stiff training, and stiff training brings tough muscles. As for the mental side: a flash of a second may mean a touchdown for the other side. You don't have time to stop and argue with yourself about this or that. You've got to make up your mind and then do what you've decided to do. All before you can bat an eye."

BERG HOPES TO CAPTURE THREE TITLES IN U. S.

Popular English Boxer In Chicago For His Next Battle

BY DIXON STEWART

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Jan. 17 —(UP)—Jack Berg, the busy little buzzsaw who first convinced American fans that not all British boxers are of the horizontal type made famous by Phil Scott, hopes to become the first modern fighter to hold three world championships.

Berg already holds the world junior welterweight title. He is rated generally as the best of current-day lightweights and undoubtedly would be the champion except that his personal friendship for Al Singer induced him to waive the opportunity to lift the crown—since won by Tony Canzonieri. He also is conceded better than any even chance to win the welterweight title.

The popular little English boxer arrived in Chicago yesterday to prepare for his title defense against Goldie Hess of California at Chicago Stadium, Jan. 23. He immediately went into a huddle with matchmaker Nate Lewis of the Stadium and asked to be matched with Tommy Freeman for the welterweight title or Tony Canzonieri for the lightweight crown.

Lewis has been trying for some time to sign Freeman for a title match and Canzonieri has expressed his willingness to defend his title for the Stadium.

Billy Petrolle of Fargo, N. D., the only boxer who holds a knockout victory over Berg, is favored for the first chance at the 135-pound crown, but Berg may be given a match with Freeman or Lewis may match Berg and Petrolle for the opportunity at the two-fight bouts.

Bob Fitzsimmons was the only boxer who ever held three championships concurrently and for Berg to duplicate his feat would be a great boon to English boxing.

He won the junior welterweight title by knockout Mushy Callahan in London last summer and was listed as the leading challenger for the lightweight crown.

Swedish Girl Is Very Disappointed

Chicago, Jan. 17 —(AP)—A bright-eyed blonde beauty from Sweden looked out over a snowless city today and sighed over the spring-like weather that kept her from lending a feminine touch to the national ski tournament at Cary, Ill., tomorrow.

She is Anna Greta Landberg of Dalarna, Sweden, who four years ago was amateur woman skiing champion of her native land where a ski title means something. She has taken part in many tournaments at St. Moritz and Davos.

Tourney officials had planned to let her enter a special 10-mile handicap race against the best of the men contestants, but have abandoned the plan because no snow fell.

HEENEY VICTIM OF KNOCK-OUT IN THE THIRD ROUND

Max Baer's Victory In The Garden Last Night Questionable

By L. S. CAMERON

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
New York, Jan. 17 —(UP)—Some 10,000 boxing fans watched Jack Dempsey referee a bout between Max Baer of California and Tom Heene of New Zealand here last night, and a severe headache was enjoyed by all.

The supreme pain was experienced by Referee Dempsey who, for the second time since he lost his title, became involved in a "count" controversy. Baer, according to the knockdown timekeeper's count, was credited with knocking Heene in the third round, while by Dempsey's count Heene was on his feet at nine. This is what happened and you can draw your own conclusions.

Here's What Happened
Heene opened the third round with a devastating attack on Baer's body. Baer replied with a slashing, two-fisted assault on Heene's body and face. Suddenly Baer drove a tremendous right smash that caught Heene just off the center of the point of his jaw. Heene was pitched violently backwards through the ropes landing on the shoulder of one boxing writer and in the lap of another.

Arthur Donovan, the knockdown timekeeper, began counting out Heene as soon as he left his feet. Dempsey picked up the count from Donovan, but missed it and was two beats behind when Heene came back into the ring. Heene went down on one knee to take advantage of the count. He arose as Dempsey was standing directly over him reached the count of nine. Donovan, however, had said "nine" just two seconds before, and shouted "you're out," as Heene arose. Everything was confusion after that. The crowd yelled frantically for the fight to go on. Dempsey, of course, more than anyone else wished that it could. Heene and Baer also appeared ready, willing, even anxious.

But the Queensbury rules made this impossible, and Baer was credited with a knockout over Heene after 1 minute and 3 seconds of the third round.

Crowd Amused
The crowd was amused when Baer and Heene, while the official ruling was being handed down, held what seemed to be a good-natured discussion at the spot where the New Zealander was driven through the ropes.

Baer really deserved to win the fight. He was on a little better than even terms with Heene in the first two rounds, but he showed in the third that he was going to whip the New Zealander.

Actually the most amusing incident of the boxing show occurred outside the Garden. This came when agents of the New York State Boxing Commission and the United States and British Empire have nine times the amount of unsubsidized civil aviation as subsidized commercial flying.

The Royal Aeronautical Society held believes that subsidized flying such as that encountered in Germany and France does not prove an unfair advantage to countries where a great bulk of commercial aviation is left to private interests.

BROOKLYN PRO IN SENSATIONAL PLAY TOOK LEAD

A Whirlwind Finish Gave Wilford Cox Chance At Golf Title

By GEORGE KIRKSEY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Agua Caliente, Mex., Jan. 17 —(UP)—The final round of the $25,000 Agua Caliente golf tournament today found Wilford (Whiffy) Cox of Dykes Municipal Course, Brooklyn, N. Y., struggling to hold a scant lead to win his first championship.

A whirlwind finish in the last threesome yesterday enabled Cox to wrest the lead from John Golden of Norton, Conn., by the margin of one stroke. A 69—three under par total of 218 to Golden's 219.

By taking a 76, four over par, for his third round, Golden, who held the lead for the first two days, gave the first indication of cracking.

Play started over the final 18 holes today with 52 professionals and ten amateurs in the field, it appeared that any one of 11 players still had a chance to win the first prize of $10,000—world's richest golf stake.

Stroke Can Be Costly
One stroke can cost somebody a lot of money. As second prize is only $3,500, a missed putt, a hook, drive or any bad shot is quite likely to mean $6,500 to someone.

On the heels of the two leaders when the field teed off today were Ed Dudley, Wilmington, Del., Los open champion; Horton Smith, Cragston, N. Y., and Clarence Clark, Tulsa, Okla. They were tied for third place with 225 strokes.

Clark pulled up with the leaders yesterday when he shot a 33, three under par, on the second nine. This was the best nine hole score of the tournament and gave Clark a third round total of 71, one under par.

Another group of dangerous contenders included Gene Sarazen, Fresh Meadows, N. Y., Mortie Dutra, Long Beach, Cal.; Ralph Gouldahl, Dallas, Texas and George Von Elm, Los Angeles. They were tied for sixth place, each with 222, four strokes behind Cox.

Walter Hagen, Detroit, and MacDonald Smith, Great Neck, L. I., who were tied for tenth place with 223 strokes, seemed to have an outside chance at first money if either of them could finish with a great round.

Do not fail to take out one of the Dixon Telegraph's Accident Insurance Policies. $125 will pay for a year's protection of $1,000. In case of death your family will receive $1000.

Train Bells Dinner Gong For Wis. Birds

New York—Every train is a "grave train" for the birds of Douglas, Wis.

The Douglas County Fish and Game League has enlisted the aid of locomotive engineers in raising through the county in a campaign to save game birds this winter, and each engineer is supplied with bags of grain which is scattered along the right-of-way.

The birds have quickly discovered that food is available along the tracks when all other foods is covered by snow, the league informs the American Game Protective Association, and the plan is proving effective in saving thousands of birds which would otherwise perish.

UNITED STATES PLACED AMONG AVIATION LEADERS
London —(UP)—The United States, Canada and Australia lead the world in civil flying, according to C. R. Fairley, president of the Royal Aeronautical Society. These same three countries also show a rate of expansion greater than in any other part of the world.

Fairley says that the United States and British Empire have nine times the amount of unsubsidized civil aviation as subsidized commercial flying.

The Royal Aeronautical Society held believes that subsidized flying such as that encountered in Germany and France does not prove an unfair advantage to countries where a great bulk of commercial aviation is left to private interests.

90 ROOKIES WILL GET TRIALS WITH NATIONAL LEAGUE

International And Pacific Coast Leagues Furnished Most

BY HERBERT W. BARKER

(Associated Press Sports Writer)
New York, Jan. 17 —(AP)—The eight clubs of the National League will give trials to nearly 90 new men this spring with the International and Pacific Coast leagues furnishing the most promising recruits.

The International has sent up a big crop of rookies and a good many of them should stick in the majors. Five regulars of Rochester's pennant-winning team will seek berths on one National League team or another. "Rip" Collins, clouting first baseman, and Paul Derringer, right-handed pitcher who won 23 games and lost 11 in 1930, go to the "parent" organization, the St. Louis Cardinals.

George Grant, another Rochester right hander, will get another major league chance with the Pittsburgh Pirates, and John Berly, still another orthodox flinger, with the New York Giants. Outfielder "Red" Worthington, who hit 378 with the Redwings last season, gets a chance with the Boston Braves.

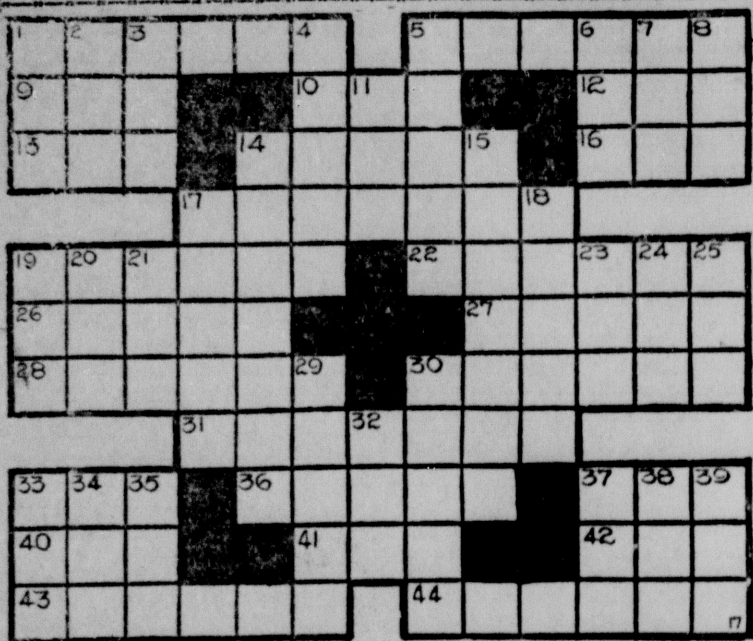

From Baltimore, Stewart Boen, crack right-hander, goes to the Phillies, while Outfielder Vince Barton will see what chance he has of crowding into the Chicago Cubs lineup. Buffalo has sent Al Moore, outfielder, to the Cardinals, while Reading's star catcher, Bob Grace, gets a chance with the Cubs.

The leading Coast League recruits are Wesley Schumacher, who hit .380 for Los Angeles last season, and would like to approach that mark with the Braves; Mickey Heath, Hollywood first baseman who goes to the Cincinnati Reds, and Johnny Vergez, clever infielder purchased by the New York Giants from Oakland.

Other Coast League material includes Ed Baecht, former Philly pitcher who will go to the Cubs from Los Angeles; and Frank Sigafos, infielder drafted by the Reds from Los Angeles. Sigafos formerly was with the

Railroads Devote Much

Time To Study Of

Lost Business

By VICTOR T. HACKLER

Chicago, Jan. 17—(AP)—While the eastern railroads are planning consolidations to cope with the modern problems of transportation at a profit, the western lines are using the old trial and error method.

There is not much talk of mergers in the roads that thread westward from Chicago, now that the proposed Great Northern-Northern Pacific tie-up has fallen through. Instead, all sorts of experiments are being tried in an effort to bring business back to the railroads.

The "crack" trains are even more luxurious, and faster than a few years ago. The 72-hour run between Chicago and the Pacific northwest has been gradually whittled down to about 57 hours.

Reduced fares, amounting virtually to first, second and third class rates, are being tried from Chicago to Pacific Coast points. One fare is good only in coaches, another in tourist sleepers and the third in standard sleepers.

Excursion rates in and out of commercial centers are aimed at new passenger business and at getting the public "railroad minded." They have proved successful, officials say.

In Motor Bus Business
Some railroads have gone into the motor bus business and even contemplate operating trucks. The Chicago & Northwestern owns stock in a concern operating buses over much the same territory as its trains. The Chicago, Burlington & Quincy has substituted buses for some of its short steam lines in Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska. The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific has been granted a charter to operate buses in Iowa.

Most of the railroads assert the loss of railroad traffic is due mainly to bus and truck competition, especially on short hauls, and cannot be attributed solely to general business conditions. The railroads' troubles antedate the general deflation.

To get what they term equality with competing forms of transportation, the regulated railroads are urging both state and national legislation to regulate, similarly their competitors.

The railroads must adapt themselves to new methods of transportation if the latter give better service than the railroads are able to give and are equally taxed," said President W. B. Storey of the Atchafalaya, Topeka &amp; Santa Fe. He added that the did not think the "new" methods were being equally taxed or regulated at the present time.

Not Equally Taxed
President H. A. Scandrett of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific agreed.

C. E. Spens, vice-president of the Burlington, called attention, as did H. W. Beyers, vice-president of the Northwestern, to indications that business was "looking up." Spens said the optimistic reports of Burlington representatives had not been reflected yet in actual tonnage but that he felt sure 1931 would be a better year than 1930 for the western lines, although probably not so good as 1929.

J. E. Gorman, president of the Chicago, Rock Island &amp; Pacific, called attention to the "direct competition" of the federal government through its operation of the federal barge lines on the Mississippi and Warrior rivers. "This barge line pays no taxes," he added, "its under no necessity of earning any return upon its investment, and has the financial support of the government."

Beyers said he did not think the truck would be a factor in long distance freight hauling. It was a goodly regulated but he believed both the bus and the truck had a proper "place under the sun" for short hauls.

For GINGER'S SAKE

by ETHEL HUESTON

© 1930 THE BOBBY-MERRILL CO.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

GINGER ELLA TOLLIVER was named. Ginger's father was a miner, and her stepmother a very wealthy woman, but life in the little town of Red Thrush, Iowa, ran too slowly to suit Ginger and her set. So she announced to her friends, EDDY JACKSON, PATTY SEARS and WESLEY WEEKER that she was going to start a home for the blind.

To JENNY BROOKS, wife of old BENNY BROOKS, an ally in whom she could trust implicitly, she confided her intention of organizing a Junior Country Club. She asked Jenny to act as her agent in the purchase of the Mill Rush farm, a 10-acre tract with an old farm house, from JOPLIN WESTBURY. The rest of her plans were still in her head, unformulated.

"And," she told Jenny, "the sure thing being him down in his price. About half of what he asks will be right."

To Jenny, who, with her husband, was to be chaperone, the venture promised a great many colorful adventures. The house on Mill Rush held interesting possibilities for an imagination as fertile as Ginger's. On the other hand, it was doing its present owner no good, and he was anxious to sell. Westbury finally got down to $2000, whereupon Jenny said she would have to ask Ginger's advice.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER IV
But Joplin Westbury did not wait for Jenny to see Ginger Ella. He knew Ginger from of old and was well aware that she was not above turning a neat financial trick herself when she had a good chance. And he had no intention of letting this sale slip through his fingers.

Before Jenny was down the stairs he had Ginger on the telephone.

"Say, little bondholder," he began cheerfully, for he and Ginger were great friends. "I guess you're not so over-nourished on bank-notes but what you'll turn an honest dollar if you see your way clear, eh?"

"I hope to tell you," declared Ginger, "I'm going to make it right now. I'm asking 2000, but I won't stick at 1800. Listen, Ginger, just between us, I'd let it go for 1500, 250 down and 25 a month. Now, tell you what I'll do. Anything we get out of her over 1500, I'll give you 10 per cent, and in addition to your hundred. The land's good enough, but I can't rightly use it myself, and the farmers don't seem to fancy it."

Ginger laughed delightedly. "That's just corking," she said. "I'll see what I can do. You're a great old sport, Joppy, and I think we can do business."

Her confidence was not ill advised. They did do business, and within 24 hours Ben and Jenny Brooks had bought Mill Rush for $1500, paying $250 down. And Ginger had a check for $100, which she generously divided with Jenny, to that woman's boundless delight.

The news that Ben and Jenny Brooks had taken over the Mill Rush place to operate as a sort of summer home for themselves and a general club for the youth of Red Thrush created a sensation in the community but on the whole met with a surprisingly favorable reaction.

Ben and Jenny were well liked, and had the respect and the goodwill of every one in town. The hope that they would do well and make money out of the enterprise upon which they had so boldly embarked was unanimous. That Ginger should sweep into immediate dominance of all arrangements caused no surprise at all, for she had always been known as Jenny's general boss, taking entire credit even for the marriage of the strangely assorted pair, and considering them in a unique way to be her personal protégés.

THE more ardent and active members of the regular Country Club frankly admitted that they would be glad to be rid of what they impatiently called "those youngsters." It is not easy for middle-aged parents to indulge in foolish frivolity before the amazed and disapproving eyes of growing-up sons and daughters.

An even more practical objection to the free use of the Country Club by the juniors was the fact that it was almost impossible to stock provisions enough to satisfy their never-ending thirsts and hungers for they seemed to be entirely lacking in the modern culture of which every young couple is so titled, but where she and Mr. Tolliver, when he had retired from active participation in church affairs, could joyously superintend the development of the future "Little Gingers," as Ginger herself flippantly referred to her hypothetical progeny of later date.

EDDY, Phil told herself, was a nice boy and he understood Ginger. Best of all he had a sense of humor, was, in fact, what Ginger called a real human being and had fallen in love with Ginger in her days of bare-skinned knees.

It frequently happened that Ginger was tied up with engagements with different college boys home for vacation, or with the friends who came with them, in which case she usually managed to work Eddy into the party as an escort for her friend, Patty Sears. That was really where Eddy's greatest value lay, in taking Eddy off her hands and yet keeping him in the party.

For Eddy was a powerful ally, a valuable addition to any party. He was older than the others and he never lost his head.

Ginger's own emotions, so far as men were concerned, were in a state of safe but deadly somnolence. She was not at all sure that she believed in love; her personal opinion was that she probably did not. Love, she found, was apt to be either rough or messy, and neither manifestation appealed to her.

Also, as she cheerfully confided to Phil, "if occasionally one does let go for a minute and lapse into complete eroticism—see Freud—one is so flushed and perspires the rest of the day it simply isn't worth it." Taken all together, she was against love. "Something to do," she said, "what's all people read?"

"Say, little bondholder," Joplin said, "I guess you'll still turn an honest dollar if you see your way clear, eh?"

"I hope to tell you," declared Ginger.

Before Jenny was down the stairs he had Ginger on the telephone.

"Say, little bondholder," he began cheerfully, for he and Ginger were great friends. "I guess you're not so over-nourished on bank-notes but what you'll turn an honest dollar if you see your way clear, eh?"

SENATE'S TALK IS HAMPERING THE RED CROSS

Finds It Difficult To Raise Cash To Feed Needy

Washington, Jan. 16—(AP)—Officials of the American Red Cross informed President Hoover today the organization is being seriously embarrassed in its appeal for a $10,000,000 drought relief fund by proposals in the Senate that Congress appropriate and give money to the Red Cross.

The President delayed luncheon for half an hour to discuss the situation.

Those present were Chairman Payne of the Red Cross; Secretary Lamont, Under Secretary Mills and Assistant Secretary Hope of the Treasury, all members of the Red Cross Central Committee.

They reported unfavorable reaction to the appeal for funds has been registered in a number of cities, particularly Philadelphia and Boston because of the proposed relief measures in the Senate.

$391,000 Received

The Red Cross today announced receipt of $391,000 in its campaign. The largest single contribution reported today was $100,000 from Mrs. Edward H. Harkness of New York City. Mrs. Whitehead Reid gave $5,000.

Up to noon, January 15, $1,392,640 had been spent in drought relief. Cash grants in 196 counties totalled $658,199. The sum contributed from the national Red Cross treasury to date for relief in all states was $1,019,527.

Sandwich, Ill., wired today that its Red Cross quota had been raised.

EMMERSON BACKS PLEA

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 16—(AP)—Governor Louis L. Emmerson today issued a proclamation asking state wide cooperation with chapters of the American Red Cross in raising the relief funds sanctioned by President Hoover.

The Red Cross has undertaken to raise $10,000,000 to be expended in drought stricken areas to furnish food and clothes for the needy.

ABE MARTIN

I hate t' eat by a feller that holds his arms like a snare drummer. It's nice t' live in a little town where you don't have t' give somebody a dime t' hold your overcoat.

W. W. Canfield, editor of the Utica (N. Y.) Observer-Dispatch, says: "Did you ever stop to think what a miserably mean, cowardly sneaking trick it is to pass along to another some harmful rumor you have heard from some one of small account about a bank, a business, some organization or fraternity, a man, a woman, a boy or a girl?"

"Did you ever stop to think, when you hear such a rumor, that it may be false? And did you ever turn to the person who poured into your ears the choice bit of scandal and ask him where he heard it, what evidence he had as to its truth, if he was prepared to testify as to the accuracy of the story he had told?"

"Did you ever turn to him and say, 'Come on, now, let's go to it, Smithers, whom you say told it to you, and ask where he heard it, and see if he is willing to go to the source of his information and together we ask the same questions?'"

"Did you? No, probably not. The chances are that you might have hustled around the corner or hurried out to the back fence and gave the tale new wings to hustle it along on its evil course.

"I tried the plan of turning the question the other day to a man who had brought me a disturbing rumor about the integrity of a bank. He weakened immediately; explained that he had heard some people talking about it and didn't know who they were; overheard it in a street car."

"From strangers, of course! Hell! broth, what a rotten thing to do—pass on a story that might have caused a run on a bank, probably brought disaster to thousands without any basis of fact!"

King Reinstated

By Power Commis.

Washington, Jan. 16—(UP)—The Federal Power Commission today announced the reappointment of King to his former position as Chief Accountant.

Charles A. Russell, dismissed solicitor, was not reappointed.

King and Russell, together with Frank E. Bonner, former Executive Secretary, were dismissed when the new Power Commissioners took office. This action aroused a storm of protest in the Senate, which unsuccessfully tried to force President Hoover to return the nominations of the three Commissioners concerned in the action.

A statement issued by the Commission discussing the reappointment of King stated that "The Commission in view of Mr.

King's long experience and full familiarity with the work in progress, favored his appointment at this time over any other applicant. Mr. King's appointment will be immediately effective."

Commissioners refused to comment regarding the refusal of Russell's application.

Plan New Dock

For Giant Liner

London, Jan. 15—(UP)—A new dock is to be built at Southampton to meet the requirements of the new 60,000 ton liner which the Cunard Line is about to build. When completed in 1932, both vessel and dock will be the largest in the world.

The new dock will be 1,200 long and 135 feet wide at the entrance, with a depth of 45 feet. Ultimately it will replace the existing floating dock.

The Southern Railway Company, owners of the Southampton docks, will start immediately the second stage of its extension scheme, which, when completed, will make it one of the best equipped and most efficient ports in the world.

The full extension scheme will cost $85,000,000. The company intend to reclaim about 200 acres of mud land for industrial sites close to deep water berths. Work on the first part of the scheme, which cost $15,000,000 is nearly completed.

TATTOOING SLUMPS

Boston—(UP)—The tattooing industry, which once flourished here, apparently has suffered from the business depression. A few years ago a dozen tattoo artists held forth in Boston. Now there are only three.

Charges Author Is "Publicity Hound"

Los Angeles, Jan. 16—(AP)—Gertie Van Loan, who charged H. H. Van Loan, author and scenarist, married her "for publicity purposes," pressed court action today to obtain from him $500 a month separate maintenance.

It was Van Loan's idea, she alleged, that their child should be born in an airplane several thousand feet above New York City to promote publicity for himself. She asserted he had an income of $1,500 weekly. She charged he caused rumors to be circulated that he was engaged to marry Marjorie Rambeau and then Virginia Brown Faire, actresses.

Van Loan, suing her for divorce, charged she flirted with other men and repeatedly declared before guests she was "the brains of the family."

Boys' Classes In Home Economics

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 16—(UP)—If a sufficient number of students are interested in the subject, a course in home economics for boys will be started next month at Springfield high school.

Superintendent of Schools Frank T. Vasey, who announced that the course would be offered, said that a similar one had proven successful in Peoria high schools.

While the course would deal primarily with selection of proper clothing and food, cooking and sewing also would be taken up.

STORY OF EDEN BARRED

*A BRILLIANT KNIGHT . . .

The success won by the new Willys cars at the National Auto Show is convincing proof of how thoroughly Willys-Overland has achieved its aim... That aim was to introduce to the low-priced field greater beauty of design, both exterior and interior—greater roominess and comfort—greater luxury and more tasteful refinement of detail—finer riding qualities—more brilliant performance—greater safety—all combined with the operating economy and dependability of Willys-Overland products... Safety glass is available all around, at slight extra cost... Improved transmissions, quieter in operation... Prices are lower; some models are 700 less than last year's similar types.

SAFETY GLASS AVAILABLE IN ALL MODELS IN EVERY WINDOW
